

TODAY Show features H2O for Life

Mounds View Public Schools' teachers and students received national attention for their H2O for Life efforts to address water, sanitation and hygiene issues in schools around the globe. The June issue of Reader's Digest featured Highview Middle School teacher Patty Hall for her work to involve more than 900 students in service learning projects that have helped bring rainwater-catchment systems and water wells to African villages in need. On May 31, Hall and students from Highview Middle School, Irondale High School and Mounds View High School were featured on NBC's TODAY Show weekend edition. To view H2O for Life stories in full, visit the In the Media page at www.moundsvIEWSchools.org.