

COMMUNITY BRIEF

H2O for Life honored in D.C.

The U.S. Center for Citizen Diplomacy highlighted White Bear Lake-based H2O for Life as a top program during a conference Nov. 16-19 in Washington D.C. President and CEO of Youth Service America Steve Culbertson commended H2O for Life for its innovative and effective ways to involve youth in helping solve global challenges.

H2O for Life provides service learning opportunities for schools in developed nations to study the issues of the global water crisis. Several White Bear Lake schools have participated. The nonprofit was founded by Patty Hall, a White Bear Lake resident and Mounds View Schools teacher.
